Sign up for preparedness workshop

Sept. 9, 2013 - Hurricane. Flood. Tornado. Blizzard.

Don't let the next natural or man-made disaster catch you unprepared. Sign up now for the free Preparedness Day Workshop on Sept. 28 and let Hampton's professionals show you how to get ready for the next emergency.

Learn new information and skills at six different stations, including:

- Food and water safety
- Home safety
- First Aid and hygiene
- Fraud and home security, including identity protection
- Planning Documents
- Ready Kits

The workshop will be at the Northampton Community center, 1435-A, Todds Lane, from 9 a.m.-noon. Because seating is limited, you must be registered to attend.

Pre-register now by filling out the form online or by contacting Hampton's Community Call Center at 3-1-1 or 727-8311. Please include how many will be attending.

On the day of the workshop you should complete your registration by checking in between 8:30 and 9 a.m. at the Northampton Community Center.

The Preparedness Workshop is a part of National Preparedness Month, which is sponsored by the Federal Emergency Management Agency and encourages Americans to prepare for emergencies in their homes, businesses, schools and communities.
